When a community is strong, its children thrive. That’s why The Global Fund for Children partners with grassroots organizations to transform the lives of vulnerable children.

Whether working in a city slum, a refugee camp, or an isolated village, our grantee partners care because it is their home. They care because these are their children. Locally led, innovative, and resourceful, they understand the unique needs and obstacles that surround them. Our role is to make sure they have what they need to succeed.

With your support, we are building a legacy—for children, for communities, and for the world.

OUR VISION
At The Global Fund for Children, we envision a world where all children grow up to be productive, caring citizens of a global society.

OUR MISSION
We work to advance the dignity of children worldwide. We pursue this mission by making small grants to innovative community-based organizations working with many of the world’s most vulnerable children and youth.
year in review

What a year it’s been—thank you for making it all possible. Together in 2013–2014, we...

WELCOMED our new CEO, Susan Goodell. With more than 25 years of experience in the nonprofit sector, Susan is fiercely committed to transforming children’s lives by maximizing your donations and strengthening GFC.

ADDED 40 new grantee partners—and the 21,877 children they serve—to the GFC family. For 71 percent of these organizations, we are the first US-based funder to offer support.

MULTIPLIED your support to make every dollar go further. This year, by leveraging your donations, we helped our grantees secure an additional $1.9 million from other funders, for a total of more than $9 million since 1997.

CHALLENGED business students through the Global Fund for Children/Financial Times MBA Challenge. Seven global teams achieved finalist status and developed sustainability plans to help our partners strategize for the future.

AWARDED a total of $300,000 in Maya Ajmera Sustainability Awards to eight outstanding organizations. This special grant is designed to ensure our partners’ long-term stability—and to keep your investments impacting generations of children to come.

$600K CONNECTED with GFC supporters like you at events in London and Dallas, and at our gala in New York, where you raised nearly $600,000 in one night. Thank you!

91% EVALUATED our model with our biennial grantee-partner survey. A full 91 percent of respondents agreed that GFC is different from other funders because we offer more than money: we help their organizations become more sustainable.

TRAVELED to Haiti on a GFC donor trip, where GFC supporters like you saw our work in action and—best of all—met the children whose lives have been transformed by their support.

welcome letter

Dear Friend,

At The Global Fund for Children, we believe that local is lasting. We believe in improving children’s lives for good, and we believe the best way to do that is at the grassroots level. We believe in giving social entrepreneurs the tools they need to make their communities stronger—for children, and for everyone.

Every two years, we survey our grantee partners to find out how we are doing. Soliciting feedback from grantees is not standard practice among development organizations, but we believe it’s vital to understanding our impact. It is also central to ensuring the good stewardship of your donations.

This year, our grantee partners once again confirmed that GFC is different from other funders. A full 91 percent of respondents agreed that we are unique because we do more than just give money—we help our partners build their capacity and become more sustainable.

The survey shows that GFC’s model—a combination of program support and capacity-building services—provides significant value to grassroots organizations around the world.

BUT WHAT DOES THAT MEAN FOR CHILDREN?

It means children have the opportunity to succeed—not only today, but also tomorrow, and for years to come. It means children can count on their own communities to provide them with safe places to learn, to play, and to grow up healthy and strong. It means that even during crises—in times of political turmoil, epidemics, and war—children have what they need to thrive.

AND WHAT DOES THAT MEAN FOR YOU, AS A GFC SUPPORTER? It means you contribute to long-term results for children—not temporary fixes or one-size-fits-all solutions. You make sure children receive critical care on a daily basis, but you also do more than that. You invest in some of the most innovative grassroots organizations that are making this world a better place for all children. Because, like us, you believe children deserve nothing less.

We hope this report reveals to you the important work made possible through your generosity. We also want to thank our outgoing board members, Sarah Perot and Sanjiv Khattri, for their many years of leadership, hard work, and commitment to GFC and to the children we serve around the globe. On behalf of the thousands of children who have been helped through their leadership, we want to express our heartfelt gratitude.

We believe our task is more important today than ever before, with unrest and uncertainty impacting children’s lives throughout the world. Together, we can help build a safer, more productive civil society—not just for today’s children, but for future generations. Thank you for making our vital work possible.

With our deepest appreciation,

MARK MCGOLDRICK
Chair, Board of Directors

SUSAN GOODELL
Chief Executive Officer
Investing in grassroots organizations has endless dividends—for children, for communities, for the world. Since 1997, The Global Fund for Children has invested $33.2 million in more than 600 grassroots organizations in 78 countries, touching the lives of more than 9 million children.

1. Without support, children growing up on the margins of society may struggle to survive, let alone dream about the future.

2. Small but powerful, the organization intervenes, providing critical programs and services.

3. The children gain the skills they need to prepare for a brighter future.

Inspired by children in the community, a local leader starts a grassroots organization—and dedicates his or her life to improving children’s lives.
Excitement and impact grow as the organization matures. More children and community members get involved.

GFC strengthens the organization with capacity-building services, management expertise, and increased visibility. By leveraging its reputation to gain new funders for the grantee, GFC multiplies its impact.

Now bigger and stronger, the organization can deepen its impact—reaching more children, replicating its model, and increasing its sustainability.

GFC forges new partnerships with other emerging organizations, continuing to grow its grassroots network.

The children in the community grow up into independent, productive, caring adults—and can give their own children a better life.
With your support, The Global Fund for Children invested more than $3.7 million in 251 grassroots organizations in 55 countries this year.

It is no surprise that poverty severely limits a child’s access to education, and additional factors compound this disadvantage—ethnicity, language, ability level, gender, and location all impact a child’s likelihood of attending school. This year, we invested more than $2.3 million in 180 grassroots organizations that provide learning opportunities for children who might otherwise miss out on an education.

ASOCIACIÓN EDUCATIVA KUSI KAWSAY
GFC Grantee Since 2013

Despite Peru’s large indigenous population, the country’s public education system does not address the unique needs of indigenous children, who are frequently from low-income families and are likely to leave school at an early age. Kusi Kawsay, founded by local parents, is an independent school that combines Waldorf methodology with traditional Andean culture. In addition to covering subjects required by the Peruvian government, Kusi Kawsay encourages children to be proud of their culture and teaches classes in weaving, Quechua language, music, dance, nutrition, and agriculture. A relatively new grantee, Kusi Kawsay is strengthening its curriculum and creating a strategic plan with the help of a GFC organizational development award.
More people are enslaved today than at any other time in human history—and millions of them are children. Forced to be soldiers, servants, miners, and sex workers, these children live in danger and fear. That’s why our partners work courageously to prevent trafficking, to rescue enslaved children, and to help survivors heal from trauma and regain their rights. This year, we invested more than $650,000 in 41 grassroots organizations working with children who are victims of trafficking or at risk of being trafficked.

MAISON DE LA GARE (MDG)
GFC Grantee Since 2011

In Senegal, young boys known as talibés are sent by their families to urban areas to study under the guidance and care of religious leaders. Once a respected and dignified tradition, the practice has in recent years become a system of exploitation. Forced by their teachers to beg for money on the streets, many talibés endure a life of modern slavery. MDG negotiates with the teachers to improve living conditions for talibés and also directly intervenes to remove and protect the boys from unsafe environments. MDG provides talibés with basic education, psychosocial care, healthcare, and vocational training, in addition to giving them access to a library and playground. This year, MDG served 400 children, and with support from GFC, MDG founder and director Issa Kouyaté was awarded a Ford Motor Company International Fellowship of 92nd Street Y.

WAR & CONFLICT

Children in war zones watch their communities burn, witness relatives being killed, and are forced to flee their homes. Many children are separated from their families; some are abducted by combatants and forced to be soldiers or sex slaves. In countries with long-standing wars, this is the only reality the children have ever known. This year, we invested more than $875,000 in 62 grassroots organizations working in conflict-affected areas, where they create local solutions to protect children and help them heal.

TAHADDI
GFC Grantee Since 2009

Imagine fleeing your home for safety, only to settle in an unfamiliar city where violence and uncertainty persist. In Hay al-Gharbeh, a shantytown in Beirut, this is the reality for Syrian refugee children. Our partner Tahaddi provides refugee and other vulnerable children with education and healthcare, working to restore normalcy to their lives. For children who have been traumatized by war, Tahaddi also offers counseling and family-tracing services. As more conflict-affected children arrive from Syria, Tahaddi continues to expand—since receiving its first GFC grant in 2009, Tahaddi has grown the number of children it serves from 68 to nearly 300.
ENTREPRISE & YOUTH EMPOWERMENT

From Rio de Janeiro to Cairo to Mumbai, youth around the globe are struggling to gain traction as leaders and economic contributors, with the most disadvantaged youth facing the greatest challenges. Our local partners are well positioned to reach young people who are affected by profound inequality and to help them build skills and become productive community citizens. This year, we invested more than $1.2 million in 84 grassroots organizations that provide children and youth with economic opportunities, life skills training, and leadership development.

CENTRE FOR CHILD AND WOMEN DEVELOPMENT (CCWD)
GFC Grantee Since 2008

In Bhubaneswar’s slums and Dalit communities, children frequently work to support themselves and their families instead of going to school—but without an education or job skills, they have little chance of breaking out of deep poverty. CCWD believes that education is one of the most effective ways to reduce child labor and ensure the overall growth of a child. Operating in eight slum areas, CCWD provides working children with a combination of basic education and vocational training to promote better work and life opportunities. Serving child laborers who have never attended school, CCWD also offers nutritional supplements, counseling, healthcare, and training in leadership and child rights. Since becoming a GFC grantee in 2008, CCWD has grown its annual budget by nearly 350 percent, from $32,000 to $144,000, and this year, the organization reached more than 650 children.

adolescent girls

When a girl in the developing world reaches adolescence, she is faced with divergent paths: will she stay in school, or be a child bride? Can she even afford school, and will she be safe there? Can she protect her body and her health? These are just a few of the problematic realities that girls experience in their everyday lives—so our grantees work hard to give them the opportunity to succeed. This year, we invested more than $1.3 million in 81 organizations whose programs specifically address the needs of adolescent girls.

SPORTS AND LEADERSHIP TRAINING ACADEMY (SALT)
GFC Grantee Since 2013

For an uneducated girl living in poverty in Cambodia, the future can seem anything but bright. Recognizing that girls are particularly at risk for exploitation, SALT developed Mighty Girls, a sports empowerment program aimed at preventing child trafficking. The program provides high-risk girls with alternatives to unsafe migration, including a safe space to live, educational scholarships, tutoring, and leadership training. SALT’s community-based soccer program—which requires communities to form at least one girls’ team in order to join the league—reaches more than 2,000 children each year.
EMERGENCY RESPONSE & DISASTER RECOVERY

Many of our grantees are already working under dangerous and unstable conditions—so when disaster strikes, we provide both rapid-response grants and long-term aid. After meeting children’s immediate needs, we support our grantee partners for the long haul, helping to restore normalcy to children’s lives and rebuild their communities. Since 2005, we have provided direct support totaling $1.09 million to 108 organizations in the aftermath of emergencies both large and small.

PRAVO VIBORA
GFC Grantee Since 2011

When the Russia-Ukraine crisis escalated in spring 2014, resulting in skyrocketing gas prices and delays in government subsidies, we reached out to our Ukraine partners to offer extra support. Pravo Vibora operates a rehabilitation center for children with extreme disabilities and complex neurological conditions, providing them with physical therapy and psychosocial services. GFC’s emergency grant helped ensure that Pravo Vibora could pay rent, utilities, and staff salaries—and, most importantly, continue to care for the 350 children who count on the organization for support.
This year, you helped protect children from becoming slaves. You sent girls to school for the first time. You provided healing care to children who have been to war and back. Simply put—you transformed lives.

We are inspired by your commitment and humbled by your generosity. On behalf of vulnerable children worldwide—thank you.

impact

Five ways to make an impact in 2015

1. DONATE
   We maximize your funds to help local organizations grow bigger, better, and stronger. Your donations are about much more than money: you are building a lasting legacy for children.

2. ADVOCATE
   Invite your loved ones and colleagues to discover the meaningful experience of helping vulnerable children by introducing them to GFC. Challenging them to join you is a powerful act of advocacy.

3. LEAD
   Take your impact to the next level by joining a GFC leadership council or giving circle. Among our most influential supporters, our leadership council members engage with GFC grantees and spread the word about their important work.

4. PARTNER
   Become a corporate partner and include us in your corporate social responsibility strategy. Partnering with GFC showcases your values and can enhance employee experiences and deepen customer relationships—all while improving the lives of children in need.

5. WITNESS
   Travel with us on our next donor trip to witness the results of your donations firsthand. Nothing will inspire you more than meeting the incredible children who have been touched by your generosity.
